Greetings, IBsters—

As you already know, these two meetings will be yours to do with as you wish. I will check in with the whole section at the beginning and end of class. I will also be available for consultation during the middle of class.

I have only one requirement of you all: the classroom must not begin to resemble the one in the cartoon above. We are many scholars working toward one destination along different paths; each scholar must be respectful of the needs of every other.

Work wisely—
Mr Leo

Homework for Monday, 05 December 2016:
None.
