

22 February 2017

"Harry, I really think you ought to go to the doctor."

image from <https://comicsgrinder.files.wordpress.com/2013/07/gahan-wilson-steven-charles-jaffe-2013.jpg>

Greetings, IBsters—

When I picked it, I thought that the cartoon above was relevant to today's class plan, but now I cannot recall why I thought that.

As you know, we will dedicate today's class meeting to crafting a Mock Paper 1.

I will remind you that a homework assignment is posted to our course Moodle page. It's that bit down below.

Scratch, scritch, scritch—

Mr Leo

Homework:

- A. Working from memory and using the IB SL Paper 1 Rubric as a guide, estimate in one (1) brief paragraph your performance on the Mock Paper 1 you wrote during class. Anticipate individual marks in each of the four (4) assessment categories and support your estimates with evidence and reasoning. Include your assessment of strategies you will employ to craft more persuasive Paper 1s in the future.
- B. Upload your self-assessment paragraph to Turnitin.com prior to the start of our next class meeting.
- C. Review the entry for "Realism and Naturalism" in A Glossary of Literary Terms, by M. H. Abrams. This document is posted to our Moodle page.
- D. Continue your review of A Streetcar Named Desire. We'll begin to discuss the text during our next class meeting.